The area of my research, "Corporate Risk Management," has become more focused on risks with an enterprise-wide approach. For example, according to ISO (International Organization for Standardization), corporations should implement "Enterprise-wide Risk Management," that is introduced with a holistic and integrated approach to risk management. CEO, managers, and their subordinates are puzzled on what to do because this is a brand-new approach for the corporation to follow while each corporation has its distinct business model, variety of products and many business units which are really complicated under the umbrella of a corporation. No standardized methods can be suggested by anyone.

Then, what should they do? Well, the answer should be like this, "Each corporation should make its own model with everyone involved after every risk is identified!" For that, I believe that human resources who can implement a new idea effectively and efficiently while leading the organizations, are really needed for such a corporation.

International Management Course (IMC) will educate young students to do challenge for such difficult business problems. IMC is designed to teach how to become a global business leader being capable of leveraging diversity and inclusion. We would like to have a person, such as you, who is thinking globally with unique experience. After two years of spending precious time with us, IMC graduates can solve critical issues and make a difference to the world.

Learning Experience that Matters

My two years at the IBA's MBA program have enriched me professionally and personally. Not only did I profit greatly from an up to date curriculum with a vast choice of courses and study under top tier instructors, but I also gained valuable friends and business connections from around the world. The IMC equipped me with the right skill- and mindset, which helped me find employment as a marketer in Japan. I wouldn't change my experience at the IMC for anything and recommend it to anyone who wants to learn how to make a difference in their field of expertise.

IMC has given me the opportunity to meet people with different knowledge and backgrounds. Originally I had no slightest intention of enrolling at IMC, and I was aiming to become a freelance Japanese language teacher. However, when I was about to start job hunting due to the pandemic, my father recommended that I enroll here simply because it would give me the right to hire a new graduate. But after I registered here, my dark life changed drastically. Through studying with experienced professors and fellow students with various ideas and cultures, I was able to apply the knowledge to my own business, and most importantly, I have made invaluable friends. I believe that IMC is the only place in Japan where I can experience this kind of environment. I would like to recommend IMC not only to international students but also to Japanese students.

During my undergraduate studies, I studied abroad in Kwansei Gakuin for one semester as an exchange student. My experience at that time in KGU was memorable, which is why, when I found out they had an MBA program I was ready to apply. IMC has provided me with extraordinary learning opportunities and has exceeded my expectations of an MBA program. Professors at KGU have extensive knowledge and experience in their fields, allowing students to gain a deeper understanding of topics and learn from their firsthand experiences. Every day I get excited to go to campus, talk with professors, and participate in class discussions. KGU has not only allowed me to expand my knowledge of marketing, management, and finance, but it has also given me the chance to learn from my classmates' multicultural perspectives and make friends from around the world. I would recommend the IMC to anyone who is interested in developing and growing their business mindset.

Institute of Business and Accounting has an image of one of the Japan's leading business and management schools. Since childhood, I wished to do my masters from a prestigious business school and I feel fortunate to have been selected for the IMC program to pursue my higher studies. I became a part of IBA family in September 2021 and since then this entire one year has been full of learning and growth for me. I entered the IMC program as a Marketing major. After becoming a part of this program, I got a chance to explore the global culture and holistic approach of learning. Being a part of this global program, I got the chance to interact with people from different backgrounds, which makes the entire learning experience even more wholesome. The diverse and highly experienced faculty offers extensive learning opportunities for professional as well as personal growth. I am really looking forward to have an experience full of learning and development in my second year at this respected institution.

My study experience at IMC has changed my life, both professionally and personally. I majored in GPMP (Global Public Management Program) which aims to train students to be international civil servants in the United Nations, European Union, and other international organizations. The programme provides courses on SDGs, international organizations, and practical business skills simultaneously. After gaining professional knowledge and skills, I got the choice to serve as a project intern in the United Nations which is a dream in my life. If you also have a dream to work in an international organization, KGU is the best choice for you and learn to make a difference at IMC!

My journey at Kwasei Gakuin University's IBA allows me to see the world from a broader horizon. As the campus has a very thick international environment, I can exchange many point of views, cultures, economies, and even politics. Not to mention, this business school is more professional-oriented rather than academic-oriented. The fact that it is professional-oriented means we discussed business case studies that require us to think critically in real-world situations. Many professors with impressive professional backgrounds share their experiences and skills that equipped us with the required knowledge to confront the always-changing world. As a management major student, I gained a lot of perspectives to generate a sustainable strategy by brainstorming brilliant ideas for MNE(s). Although my major is management, I also have access to learning marketing and finance. Kwasei Gakuin University is a better place to start your international and business study journey!

IMC program provided a broad range of useful lectures covering Marketing, Management, and Finance. Not only do those educational courses offered by the IMC program guarantee a good and sound background in business school, but they also granted me lots of motivations to be deeply immersed in the ocean of knowledge and information. Under the exotic circumstances, there is no doubt that as an international student here at KGU, beyond the lectures, I can also discover local cultures and grind my language skills here, a classical one stone with two birds' strategy. Especially for those who feel confused about the near future, the IMC program would be a magnificent choice for you to plan your career strategically.

Their impressive work experience and industry knowledge helped me develop and cultivate my knowledge and skills. The various courses provided a comprehensive understanding of the in-depth and up-to-date business through case studies and interactive classroom activities. In addition, I made many life-long friends from many different countries through IMC's close-knit international student community, which I believe is the most precious asset. School history

Lambuth's Spirit and the Founding of Kwansei Gakuin

Kwansei Gakuin was founded in 1889 by the American missionary Reverend Walter Russell Lambuth, M.D. with the aim of training missionaries and educating young people based on Christian principles. After working in China as a missionary doctor, Reverend Lambuth came to Japan to spread Christianity in the country. He was a missionary and educator in all continents except Antarctica and Australia, even venturing as far as the Congo in Africa. Reverend Lambuth said, "Foster citizens of the world who are disciples of Christ," and he lived these words by dedicating his life to being a global servant.

School Motto "Mastery for Service"

In 1912, the Canadian Dr. C.J.L. Bates, the fourth Chancellor and principal of the High School, proposed what is today the motto of Kwansei Gakuin: "Mastery for Service." What this means is that we must strive to be the very best we can in order to contribute to the world and to fulfill our future responsibilities. The words that Dr. Bates spoke in 1912 still capture the spirit of Kwansei Gakuin: "Our ideal of the scholar is not a kind of intellectual sponge that always takes in, but never gives out until it is squeezed: but it is a man who loves to acquire knowledge not for its own sake, much less for the sake of his own fame, but whose desire for knowledge is a desire to equip himself to render better service to humanity."

The School Emblem: The Crescent Moon

The school emblem represents Kwansei Gakuin students' daily journey on the path to growth, as a crescent moon gradually grows to become a full moon. It also represents Kwansei Gakuin students and graduates who take God's blessings and spread them like a shining light around the world, much as the moon reflects the sun's rays to light up the dark night.

School Song: "Wings in the Sky"

Our school song, "Wings in the Sky", was created in 1933 by a Kwansei Gakuin alumnus and one of Japan's most renowned composers, Kousaku Yamada, and the poet Hakushu Kitahara. It is still sung today by countless students and graduates.
